

VETFLASH!

Dear SAVA Member,

We are aware that the link: http://www.bizportal.gov.za/essential_service.aspx is proving to be troublesome. Be aware that this website is currently swamped with requests. Please be patient, and keep trying.

For those that are able to get in: A question we had to face often was what to put into the field "Enterprise number". This is your business registration number with the CIPC(Companies and Intellectual Property Commission, previously know as CIPRO), i.e. your company or CC registration number.

At present it does not seem that the website accepts sole proprietors – in that instance, it would appear that it is not able to register on the site. Your registration certificate as received from SAVC would have to serve as sufficient proof of providing an essential service.

We will continue to source more information and share it with you as it becomes available.

Best regards,
Gert Steyn
Managing Director
