

COVID-19: Help Your Patients Virtually

Hi there,

With the number of cases of Coronavirus expected to grow in South Africa, telemedicine can help you address your clients' needs while making sure you are keeping your veterinary staff healthy.

With Medici's secure messaging and virtual visits, you can keep unneeded (and possibly contagious) appointments out of the office and care for your patients remotely. While many organisations are already encouraging their staff to work from home, you can encourage your clients to consult with you virtually.

Take a look at the following guide to learn the benefits of virtual care for veterinarians, clinical scenarios, and how to market this new offering to patients.
