

VETFLASH!

Dear Member,

We are aware that regulations with regard to the lockdown period are being enforced by the authorities. When clients are transporting an animal, they may be stopped at a checkpoint and asked to provide proof that the animal is being transported in order to have an essential service rendered.

For your convenience, the attached document, copied and pasted onto your practice's letterhead will greatly assist your clients. Note that special circumstances may exist that would require you to amend the document, taking care that general regulations with regard to lockdown is maintained. Note that a vehicle may not have more than 50% of the vehicle's registered capacity as passengers and you should therefore not allow more than 2 people per vehicle (as most vehicles except the largest SUV's have a carrying capacity of 5).

Best regards,
Gert Steyn
Managing Director
